

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

THE wedding of Miss Dossie Herbert Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Morton, of Clover, Va., to Dr. Hawley Harrison Fuller, will be celebrated at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of September 30th in St. Luke's Episcopal Church at Clover, the pastor, the Rev. Wallace Ribble, officiating.

Miss Julia Morton, of Charlotte, N. C., will be maid of honor, and Mrs. Henry Lyne Plummer, of Petersburg, dame of honor. The two best men will be Mr. Lloyd Fuller and Dr. Sutton Robertson, of Danville, Va. Miss Mary Ribble will officiate as ribbon girl, and other attendants will include Doctors Singleton Bell and L. Keith Briggs, of South Boston; Dr. Floyd Gregory, of Keyville, and Dr. Pritchett, of Danville, Va. The ceremony at the church will be followed by an informal reception to the bridal party and out-of-town guests at "Morton House," the home of the bride. Afterward Dr. and Mrs. Fuller will leave for an extended Western tour.

Miss Baylor's Success.

The Savannah Morning News of recent date says:

It will be of great interest to the Savannah friends of Miss Eloise Baylor to learn of her success as a singer. Miss Baylor is studying in Paris under the direction of De Resvke, the famous opera singer, who has pronounced her the best exponent of his method he has ever had. Her voice, he says, is both lyric and dramatic, and her range is without limit. On one occasion, after hearing her sing, De Resvke remarked that "Patti herself could not have done better. Mme. Cambrich, the well known Italian opera singer, was so charmed with Miss Baylor's voice, when she heard her sing in Chattanooga, Tenn., about a year ago, that she insisted on her seeing De Resvke in Paris and getting his opinion. Oscar Seagle, the baritone singer, prepared Miss Baylor for an audience with De Resvke.

Richmond friends are equally interested with those in Savannah at the news of Miss Baylor's achievement as a vocalist. Her mother, before her marriage, was Miss Julia Howard, daughter of Mr. Philip Howard, of Richmond, State Auditor for many years. Her uncle, Mr. Edward Howard, was for twenty years clerk of the City Council here. Mrs. Baylor as Miss Howard, was herself the possessor of a beautiful voice, and was frequently heard with delight in the Richmond churches.

Miss Baylor's father, Professor John Roy Baylor, a graduate of the University of Virginia, is now principal of a university school in Chattanooga, Tenn. He was formerly the head of a similar educational institution in Savannah.

Stay-at-Home Whist.

The Stay-at-Home Whist Club met Monday night with Mrs. S. W. Travers, Mrs. Bland S. Smith and Mr. Arthur M. Cannon making up the club. The club will meet next Monday night with Mr. Cannon at No. 24 Park Avenue.

Brooking-Nelson.

The wedding of Miss Minnie L. Brooking, daughter of Mr. W. B. W. Brooking, of Irwin, Goodland county, to the Rev. Henry Clay Nelson, son of Mr. John Nelson and grandson of Mr. John Nelson, will be celebrated in Byrd Presbyterian Church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, by the Rev. Gliden Scherer, of Hoge Memorial Church, Richmond.

Miss Mabel Sims, of this city, will have charge of the music. The church will be canvassed in white and decorated with goldenrod, against a massing of palms and ferns. Mrs. Edgar L. Sutherland, of Pulaski county, will be maid of honor, and Mr. John M. Nelson, of Mecklenburg county, the best man. The bridesmaids and groomsmen will be: Misses Elizabeth T. Wilson, of Richmond; Claire Fitzpatrick, of Arlington; and Annie Randolph Vaughan, of West View, Va.; Dr. A. E. Turman, Messrs. John A. Wood and John Nelson, of Richmond. The bride, wearing white silk and carrying a large bouquet of white roses, will come in with the matron of honor, the bridesmaid, who will be gowned in corn-colored silk. The bridesmaids will be attired in white batiste frocks trimmed with Valenciennes lace. Both matron and maids will have arm bouquets of goldenrod. Master Lynwood Brooking and little Miss Helen Huntley, all in white, will precede the bride in the advance to the altar.

After the ceremony guests will be entertained in the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will leave for a trip to New York and the Catskill Mountains. They will have their home at Clarksville, Mecklenburg county. Among those present at the wedding will be Mrs. Charles O. Sallie, Colonel B. James, Mrs. M. W. Ford and Mrs. W. H. Huntley, of Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brookling, of Manchester, Va.

Mrs. Owen's Gift.

Mrs. Narcissa Owen, of Washington, D. C., youngest daughter of Thomas Chisholm, last hereditary chief of the Western Cherokees, has presented to University of Virginia two canvases painted by her, and containing several portraits. On one canvas appear those of Thomas Jefferson, his daughter, Martha Jefferson Randolph, and his grandson, Thomas Jefferson Randolph. The other canvas displays portraits of Mrs. R. G. H. Kean, Mrs. John S. Morris and two young daughters of Mrs. Morris, Fannie and Adelaide. Mrs. Kean is the great-granddaughter and Mrs. Morris the great-great-granddaughter of President Jefferson. Her daughters make the fifth link in the number of generations painted on the canvases. The pictures have been hung in the office of President E. A. Alderman, of the university.

Cameron-Bolling.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BALTIMORE, Md., September 22.—Within bare walls, relieved by a few screens and sweet-scented flowers, Miss Elizabeth Sathorn Bolling, of Annapolis, was married at noon today to Mr. George Cameron, Jr., of Petersburg, Va., at the Union Protestant Episcopal Church. The bride has been at the hospital, suffering with appendicitis.

Miss Bolling improved so favorably after the operation that it was decided to go ahead with the ceremony, the scene being changed from Annapolis to the Eastern Shore, officiated, and the ceremony was witnessed by the family of the bride, and the parents and three children, two daughters and a son, of Mr. Cameron, who is a widower.

The bride is reported as rapidly improving. The couple will take a short honeymoon when she is able to leave the hospital, and will afterwards live in Petersburg, where the groom is a prominent banker and Democrat.

THOUSANDS ENJOY FIRST-RATE SHOW

Cole Bros. Surprised Crowds with Good, Clean Performance. Many Star Features.

Fulfilling all its promises and throwing in a little more, the Cole Brothers showed here yesterday in two performances, matinee and night, at Mulberry and Cary Streets. Circus Day is always more or less of a holiday, especially for the younger set, and the occasion of the Cole Brothers' presence was no exception to the rule. About 8,000 people witnessed the performance in the afternoon, and at night the tent was crowded to capacity.

The circus was far above the ordinary. Coming without undue pretension and a long list of promises, it would be impossible to keep, the show was all that it was said it would be, replete with numerous good acts, having an unusually large number of horses and animals, wild and trained, and being clear-cut and clean. There was not the confusion incident to other circuses, in which so much is shown at one time that nothing is seen connectedly.

The Cole Brothers have three rings, in which, following the special acts, expert horsemen and horsewomen demonstrated their skill and acrobats their marvelous agility. Clowns were there in abundance, and they served to keep the crowd amused until the show opened and between the acts. Indeed, they were so good and so heartily enjoyed by the children that they thought they were the chief attractions until the real performance began.

Some of the Big Features.

The Cole Brothers arrived early in the morning on three special trains, which were soon unloaded with dispatch and precision. The parade was given at 11 o'clock, and a large concourse turned out to see the trained performers go by in their long cavalcade.

THE OPENING A BIG SUCCESS.

The hundreds who came yesterday to see the new Millinery and to enjoy the various displays all over the store, found that as usual, the "Kaufmann's" showings brought a sense of completeness, of authority and of satisfaction.
